

2015 SOUTH CAROLINA
TEA PARTY COALITION
CONVENTION

The American Dream

An Opportunity, Not An Entitlement

January 17 - 19, 2015

In the fall of 2011, the original concept and goals of the South Carolina Tea Party Coalition Convention were first conceived and an effort established to hold a unifying gathering of grassroots activists from across South Carolina.

The Convention's purpose is to bring together Authors, Philosophers, Doctors, Conservative organizations and elected officials to share and discuss fundamental principles, latest research and suggest solutions for the crises facing our nation in peril. The Convention provides a platform for transparency in an environment, unencumbered by "political correctness" and where our 1st Amendment rights remain in full force.

Since 2012, every speaker invited to the Convention has been strongly encouraged to speak honestly and boldly about their ideas, issues and solutions. As long as the Constitution remains the "Law of the Land", no one is above it and it must be enforced equally and totally without prejudice or exception.

We want to unify rather than divide the American people and if truth is on the table, then people are free to choose how they will pursue their American Dream.

Joe Dugan is the executive producer of the Convention and has been a Tea Party leader, organizer and activist since 2009. His strongest passion lies in educating citizens and leading grassroots efforts to educate and inform.

In 2011 Joe conceived The South Carolina Tea Party Coalition Convention and rallied volunteers to help him bring national and local leaders and experts together to discuss the issues facing our nation and South Carolina. Through the efforts of Joe and his dozens of volunteers, thousands of people have been educated and trained by experts addressing significant issues facing our nation. The 2015 convention is the fourth consecutive produced by Mr. Dugan and his team.
